EVENTS

The highlight of the Junior year was the receiving of class rings. The class really showed originality in their choice of a green stone on which the M. H. S. symbol, a hornet, is mounted.

The Juniors can certainly be proud of the support they have given in athletics. They have a larger number of members participating in sports than any other class.

The Junior girls who helped cheer our boys on to victory were cheerleaders Jeanette Fasulo, Beverly Metrano, and veteran Louise McKay.

Members of the class who travelled to the music festival this year were Kenneth Guillette, and Sandra Giles.

The "Harvest Hop" and the "Record Hop" were Two dances which the class sponsored. The "Record Hop", held in the Town Hall, was one of the year's most successful dances. The class engaged Bob Clayton to disc jockey, but we mustn't forget the handsome vocalist Bob brought with him. The girls really enjoyed dancing with him.

Of course the biggest dance of the year will be the Reception which is given for the Seniors by the Juniors. The co-chairmen of the event are Beverly Metrano and Kenneth Guillette.

EVENTS

The Sophomore class has really shown a lot of school spirit through its active participation in all school events, both athletic and academic.

The football squad was, as always, supported by our snappy cheerleaders. Two Sophomore girls on the squad were Janet Guild and Janet Martin.

Early in the year, Bill Eastman's band, "The Four Downbeats", scored a huge success at the dances. The band includes: Bill, the guitarist, Eddie Jones, and his trombone, Leonard Belli, the drummer, and Doreen Annese at the piano. Bill was also chosen to attend the annual music Festival.

The Sophomore dances were greatly enjoyed by M.H.S. Their first dance, the "Sno-Ball", was held in December. Later they sponsored another successful dance in May.

In February the class anticipated the selection of their class rings by choosing a ring committee. The committee consists of David May, Nancy Spaulding, Sibby Falcone, Silvia Pasquariello, and William Eastman.

EVENTS

Our Freshman class is growing larger every year, and this year is no exception. We welcome all of our new students to M.H.S., and hope that they will enjoy their stay here as much as we have.

Early in the year, the Frosh showed their eagerness to participate in school activities, as a great number of them answered the call to join the clubs.

The Freshman Civics Club especially, has been very active this year. At its weekly meetings topics of current interest were discussed. Several speakers addressed the club and visual instruction was also provided.

One member of the Freshman class who has become well-known for his artistic ability is Robert Cipriani. Among other things, Bob has designed all the "Tatler" covers this year.

In the field of music, Teddy Freeman was recognized when he was chosen to attend the All New England Music Festival in Springfield this year.

Early in October the Frosh were given a welcome dance by the Seniors. The Freshmen turned the tables when they gave a dance on the Senior Bow Day. This was the first dance the class had given and it turned out to be a great success. Here's to continued success in all your activities at M.H.S.

Activities

Organized and Written by

Patricia Fornaciari John Hansen

Joan Harlor

1st row, l. to r.: K. Larson (advisor), R. Shaw, H. Fiske, K. Jackson, D. Lovely, D. Flynn.

2nd row: D. Tibbetts, J. Evans, E. Thibault, E. Tessier, G. Weber.

Meteorology Club

The Weather Club, under the supervision of Dr. Larson, made a study of the differences of temperature in the classrooms. The club took a field trip to Squantum Air Base.

The Tatler

1st row, l. to r.: B. Woodlock, J. George, M. Dill, E. Albertini, C. Miller, M. Graham, J. Harlor, R. Shribman, B. Metrano.

2nd row: M. Hannon (advisor), B. Kelly, M. McCarthy, J. Walker, T. Walker, R. Cipriani, E. Garriepy, J. Musto, R. Nordberg, D. Nicholson, R. Miller, N. Spaulding, S. Murphy, N. Shea, B. Mathews.

3rd row: C. Mondillo, J. Ferri, J. Agan, B. Dunn, J. Guild, S. Shepardson, M. Szabo, C. Petrillo, L. Gormley, E. Smith, J. McGlashing, J. Gallipeau, E. Silenzi, M. Camara.

Checking the annals of Tatler History we will discover that 1952-53 has been one of the most successful years ever. More articles about people and increased coverage of events seems to have been the order of the day.

Two of the new columns that were well received were the "Famous Men and Women", featuring two of the outstanding students each issue, and the "Hornet Buzzes" representing the most recent in terms of rumor and gossip. Fashions, sports, and editorials continued to appear, as per tradition.

The paper received a tremendous uplift by the appearance on the scene of a very talented freshman artist, Robert Cipriani by name. He created a new face for the paper by changing its cover design each time it came out, and each one of his jobs induced very favorable comments. Miss Hannon does not appear displeased at the thought of having his services available for another three years.

Claudia Miller was editor-in-chief and was ably assisted by Joan Harlor, Judy George, Ruth Shribman and Brenda Woodlock. Feature editors were Marion Graham, Beverly Metrano, Thelma Walker, and Judith Walker. Sports editors were Edward Albertini and Nancy Spaulding who received an assist from Richard Miller and Hugh Perry. Mary Lou Dill headed the Art staff composed of Robert Cipriani, Robert Nordberg, Dorothy Nicholson and James Musto.

Congratulations to Miss Hannon and the above-mentioned for a task well performed.

Dramatics Club

1st row, l. to r.: P. Fornaciari, J. Pomfret, M. Graham, C. Troesch, L. Giles, J. Fowler, J. Wills, K. FitzRandolph, P. Ross.

2nd row: E. Darmedy (advisor), C. Miller, J. Agan, B. Mathews, P. Paine, N. Shea, J. Harlor, J. Barre, S. Murphy, J. Burrell, E. Ricardo, B. Calesa, R. DeLutis.

3rd row: J. Gallipeau, E. Smith, E. Albertini, R. Collier, R. Hofemann, K. Guillette, D. Forrester, S. White, R. Delfino.

As the 1952-53 school year started, the Dramatics Club began its weekly meetings. Under the new leadership of Miss Eleanor Darmedy this promising club made great progress.

The meetings are held every Thursday morning at Memorial Hall. Each of them was attended faithfully by the club's thirty-two members.

The sessions consist of the presentation of skits and many other dramatic techniques by diversified groups of the club. After each one of these performances Miss Darmedy and those attending gave their critical opinions.

The major projects for the year were the Christmas play and the donut sale. At Yuletide, the Dramatics Club took over the school's Christmas program by successfully staging the play "A Child Is Born" to an audience of three hundred fellow students. Earlier in the year the club sponsored a donut sale as a means of raising money. Each member participated by going to various neighborhoods and getting thirty orders. As a result, the club fund was sufficiently cushioned to meet the necessary expenses.

The Dramatics Club is one organization that is definitely vocational as it stresses the tremendous value of public speaking and who knows, maybe in the next twenty years we may have another Helen Hayes, Ethel Barrymore or Alfred Lunt.

Girls' Glee Club

1st row, l. to r.: M. Vallett, L. Giles, E. Fales, M. Prescott, K. McKay, C. Briggs, R. DeLutis, B. Metrano, E. Nesbit, M. Graham, S. Ohle, J. Pomfret, K. FitzRandolph.

Driver Education

The number of expert drivers in Mansfield increased again this year, as the Driver Education program went into effect for its third year. This program, under the leadership of Mr. LaLiberte, consists of teaching the boys and girls to be cautious, courteous and competent automobile operators.

 2nd row: M. Wilde, M. Boynton, E. Ricardo, F. Weber, N. Shea, C. Miller, J. Agan, J. Johndro, L. Gormley, P. Houghton, J. Fasulo, C. Ferguson, B. Mathews.
 3rd row: A. Silenzi, B. Kelly, R. Partington, J. McGlashing, M. McCarthy, B. Metrano, G. Huber, E. Smith, R. DeLutis, J. Gallipeau.
 Absent: E. LaLiberte (instructor).

Stamp Club

This year Mr. Robinson has placed emphasis on first day covers. Mr. Qualters and Mr. LaLiberte gave talks on their collection and the methods of buying and selling stamps.

1st row, l. to r.: S. Olney, J. Zecher, M. Stewart, D. Forrester, R. Bridges, P. Paine.

Radio Club

The Radio Club was in complete charge of the school's weekly broadcast over Station WARA.

Seated, l. to r.: P. Ross, M. Holding, C. Richardson, J. Martin.
 Standing: F. Ienello (advisor), C. Miller, K. Fitz-Randolph, S. Giles, R. DeLutis.

Civics Club

The group has engaged in many discussions of town problems. This year, they collected dues and toyed with the idea of getting formally introduced to foreign pen pals through some existing agency.

2nd row: R. Quigley, E. Byrne, S. Sabin, N. Velletri, G. Streeter, J. Walker, K. McKay, C. Zeininger, S. Wellman, M. Welch (advisor).

Projector Operators' Club

All the members of this club have learned to operate the movie projector. They handle and show the films scheduled for all classes.

2nd row: E. Henschel (advisor), D. Flynn, R. Collier, E. Tessier, G. Carr, H. Fiske, D. Lovely, T. Wuschke, R. Moore, D. Wilde, E. Thibault, J. Hansen, J. Zecher, J. Mitchell, R. O'Malley.
3rd row: L. Stanford, C. Mondillo, D. May, T. Foster, T. Freeman, W. Johnson, R. Miller, W. Reynolds, R. Griswold, G. Hunter, J. Cuneo, W. Siegfried, H. Olney, P. Thibault, W. Gormley, T. Wilson.
4th row: P. Webb, D. Tibbetts, D. Titus, K. Guillette, P. Alessandri, M. Morini, D. Palanza, R. McGlashing, L. Brugliera, K. Sabin, G. Weber.

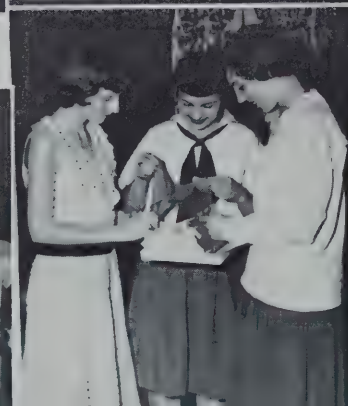

Chemistry Club

For the second consecutive year the Chemistry Club has shown itself to be a very promising organization. Under the advisorship of Mr. Linsert the club members have made many visits to local industries and also have performed experiments in the laboratory.

1st row, l. to r.: H. Linsert (advisor), J. Vallett, M. Wilde, W. O'Hare, P. Ross, C. Richardson.
2nd row: P. MacLachlan, J. Hansen, H. Fiske, R. Nordberg, K. Sabin.

Class Play

Seated, l. to r.: M. Dill, C. Richardson, K. FitzRandolph, M. Graham, M. Wilde, R. DeLutis, H. Linn, M. Palmer (director).

2nd row: R. Delfino, J. Fernandes, M. Smith, D. Titus, L. Goddard, T. Wuschke, R. Nordberg, P. MacLachlan (and my dog), F. Weber.

3rd row: J. Fowler, J. McGlashing, J. Harlor, M. McCarthy, R. Miller, L. Tessier, M. Strang, D. Purrier, P. Ross, B. Brown, D. Rossi.

The little green books that appeared in senior hands during December and January were the prominent signs that the class play work had started. Mrs. Marilyn Palmer, chosen this year to direct its operations, had chosen the cast and rehearsals were on in earnest. There was no lack of the incidentals that usually occur at this time of preparation, such as missing stars, forgotten lines, threats of falling scenery, etc.

The play itself, "Cheaper by the Dozen," was presented on the nights of February 5 and 6, and the attendance on both nights warranted terming the play a financial success. And if the response of the audience and the favorable comments heard are any indication of its theatrical value, then, that too, must be deemed very worthy of note.

All in all, it seems that those attending, as well as those performing, had a most enjoyable time, and congratulations are definitely in order for everyone who took an active part in the show. That also goes for "Mike," the dog, who hit stardom on opening night by stealing the last scene. As a parting word, let it be said that the tradition of high quality in plays at M. H. S. has not yet been broken and the Class of '53 has every reason to be proud of its swell performance.

SENIOR LETTERMEN

DONALD PURRIER

WILLIAM DONLAN

ROBERT KELLEY

The sting of the Green Hornets, under the guidance of Coach Waters, was felt again this season by the tough Hockamock League contenders. Indications are that Coach Waters brought some good football fortune with him to Mansfield.

Following last year's successful season of 5 wins and 1 tie, the Hornets came back this year with a 5 win, 3 loss, and 1 tie record. The following summary shows how Mansfield really went to work and got this well-earned record:

Mansfield 13

Somerset 13

With a strong Somerset team to compete against, Mansfield kept its own and then some to run up a 13 all.

Mansfield 25

Franklin 0

This scuffle was a try-and-get-me game led by "Red" 'run-them-wild' Purrier.

Mansfield 41

No. Easton 13

This game was in the bag all the way. With good line work and good running, the Hornets racked up this terrific score.

Mansfield 6

Bridgewater 7

The heart-breaker of the season to go down as the first loss. The Hornets just couldn't keep hold of the ball.

Mansfield 36

Dighton 26

I guess the loss to Bridgewater put more into the boys than any other single cause. With "Billy" 'fly-them-through-the-air' Maxwell's passes, the Hornets racked up another win.

Mansfield 12

Case 6

The Hornets' whirled over the dusty field in this contest to win No. 4 victory as to that date.

Mansfield 0

No. Attleboro 19

The toughest clash of the season, and the Hornets went at it with high spirits, even without the aid of "Red" Purrier. But no excuses, North was, in plain English, "too darn good."

Mansfield 7

Ashland 12

Mansfield scored first and then Ashland. It was "nip and tuck" all the way until in the final quarter Ashland romped over with the clincher.

Mansfield 26

Foxboro 2

The game of the season, the big one which is always the main objective. An estimated attendance of about 2000 saw Mansfield "tromp" over Foxboro for the third consecutive year and take the victory trophy straight to M. H. S.

"Hats off" to Coach Waters and the successful Green Hornets for the fine display of coaching, spirit, and playing we have had in this year of 1952!

Basketball

1st row, l. to r.: F. Murphy, E. Richardson, R. Kelley, M. Holding, W. Maxwell, K. Jackson.

2nd row: W. Leanues (mgr.), R. Bridges, W. O'Hare, D. Kaleta, D. Palanza, R. Waters (coach).

1st row, l. to r.: H. Olney, W. Reynolds, P. Webb, J. Evans, A. Vadala, H. Bolin.

2nd row: D. Partington, F. Delfino, M. Ross, R. Miller, D. Fagan, R. Waters (coach).

Absent: G. Adams (coach).

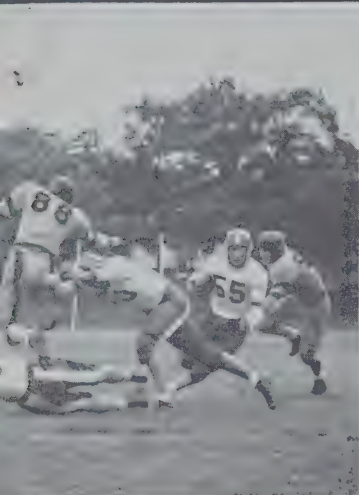

The history of the '53 season is not completely written in its win and loss column. Dismal as that may seem, it is also necessary to consider that sickness played some part in the schedule, causing some reshuffling in the line-up. This was especially true of captain Mac Holding, our high scorer, who missed five regular league contests and whose presence might well have changed the complexion of the games.

We can then look upon this year's record as perfectly normal, the coaching good, the spirit usual, the will to win never lost—and wait patiently for the return of Lady Luck. We may have been close to the cellar in the standing, but in the will to produce a sparkling team we are still closer to the top.

Some of the things we shall remember are: a single point win over Foxboro, and a similar loss to Stoughton—an eighty pointer in one game and a twenty-nine in another—a lively North Attleboro session—a quick exit from the tournament.

Well, as the Red Sox always do, let's think about what we will do to them next year. That seems to be quite a popular corner around which many pennants are hidden. Whatever our thoughts in that direction, it remains true that Mac Holding, Bob Kelley and Willie O'Hare are the only ones bowing out of the picture through graduation, and Coach Waters will not frown upon the thought of starting out his race with more experience at hand.

And, as we close, here is our "pat on the back" to the coach and players who stayed in there battling despite the reverses and poor breaks. Also, due recognition to George Adams and his Jayvee squad for a display of fine spirit and a good showing.

Track

M. H. S. is still uncertain of the season to come, but the promising prospects foster hopes of a good record and with a squad as large as this, anything is possible—believe me!

Leading the team this year will be Captain-elect Ernie May and the four-year letterman Red Purrier. Those assisting these boys in top fashion will be: Hugo Bolin, Bill Todesco, Pete Sabin, Fran Murphy, Bob Collier, Phil Webb, Tom Foster, Don Forrester, Richard Miller, Bill Reynolds, Don Fagan, Bob Goyea, Fred Larson, Lou Brugliera, David May, Sonny Guerrini, Bob Thomas, Bill Eastman, Pete Richardson, Buzz Richardson, Sibby Falcone, Jim Evans, and Pete Fournier.

Pole vaulting, an event introduced by Coach Mazukina last year, will be left up to Forrester.

Coach Mazukina will enter his Green and White tracksters in competition with Foxboro, Canton, Stoughton, Sharon, and North Easton of the Hockamock League. They will also enter the Concord meet on Patriot's Day along with the well-known South Shore Tournament.

Baseball

2nd row: C. Mondillo, R. Miller, D. Dustin, C. King, H. Bolin, W. Reynolds, R. Cipriani, J. Mei, R. Waters.

The boys out for baseball are digging up their equipment in preparation for the on-coming baseball season. Tough competition amongst the members of the Green and White is expected before anyone nails down a sure spot on the roster.

Mansfield should have a very good season as most of last year's veterans are returning. They include: Kevin Jackson, Buzz Richardson, Fred Delfino, Ed Garriepy, Joe Mei, Bob Kelley, Bill Maxwell, Sonny Guerrini, Dan Kaleta, Bill Leanues and Ricky O'Malley. Two additional fine prospects are Hugo Bolin and Billy Reynolds.

The schedule this season for the hard-hitting Hornets is as follows:

April	20	Randolph at Mansfield
"	23	No. Attleboro at Mansfield
"	27	Mansfield at Sharon
"	30	Mansfield at Stoughton
May	4	Mansfield at Foxboro
"	7	Canton at Mansfield
"	11	Mansfield at Oliver Ames
"	14	Mansfield at Randolph
"	18	Mansfield at No. Attleboro
"	21	Sharon at Mansfield
"	25	Foxboro at Mansfield
June	1	Mansfield at Canton
"	4	Oliver Ames at Mansfield

2nd row: R. Delfino (mgr.), J. Wills, V. Laprise, E. Holt, J. Martin, M. Szabo, L. Pasquariello, M. Thayer, B. Chase (coach).

3rd row: E. Marcheselli, P. Kelleher, J. Ferri, J. Agan, J. Burrell, B. Mitchell, S. Sabin, E. Nesbit.

The Hornettes under the able direction of Mrs. Chase, finished the 1953 season with a fine six and three record. The forwards excelled in passing and breaking while the guards got rebounds and safely passed the ball to the forwards.

Those who piled up the score were the veterans: Kay Ellen FitzRandolph, "Lil" Goddard and "Joe" Burrell. They were ably assisted by Dolores Rossi, "Duffy" Coddington and also Nancy Spaulding until she injured her knee. The veteran defenders were Co-captain "Meg" Graham, "Claud" Miller, "Patty" Fornaciari and Jeanette Fasulo who were aided by "Pris" Ross, "Jackie" Agan, "Bev" Metrano, and "Judy" George.

Class History

by
ROSEMARIE DELFINO

As I look back on history,
I see a group not strange to me—
With manner shy,
But spirit high,
And out to seek their destiny.

And so in September, 1949, we, the Class of 1953, entered upon our career in Mansfield High School. As soon as we had become used to the routine of the school, we began to get down to serious business.

Mrs. Whitmore and Mr. Robinson were appointed our class advisors, and under their supervision we held our first election. As a result Herbert Linn was chosen president; Donald Purrier, vice-president; Marion Graham, secretary; and Rosemarie DeLutis, Treasurer.

We were now able to start planning for the one really important event of the year—our first dance. Enthusiastically, we went to work to make "Freshmen Capers" a success both financially and socially.

The days and weeks passed rapidly and we began to feel that we were really a part of this institution of learning. Indeed, by the end of our freshman year, we were able to stride boldly around the corridors—now one-year veterans at finding Room 6 or the Office.

SEPTEMBER, 1950.

We had gone;
Now we returned,
For the Lamp of Knowledge
Still burned.

From experience we knew that our first task was to elect our officers. The results of our second election were as follows: Donald Purrier, president; Ralph Petrillo, vice-president; Marion Graham, secretary; and Rosemarie DeLutis, treasurer.

Being accustomed to the routine of the day, we decided to settle down for some serious study before too many activities came along to distract our attention.

It was not long, however, before we realized that it was time to make plans for the two dances held annually by each sophomore class. Once more we felt that we were well repaid for the effort we put into our social activities.

In the spring, we learned that if we wished to get our class rings early in our junior year, we should order them before the summer vacation. So a committee was elected to select a few samples for the class to vote on. Finally, we chose the ring presented by the Scholastic Jewelers of Boston. Although we were enthusiastic over our rings and didn't really mind making the down-payment, we had to be reminded every day not to forget it.

All too soon our sophomore days were at an end and we realized we had completed half of our high school career.

"Where, oh, where, are the Jolly Juniors?" That's the way the song goes. In the fall of 1951, you didn't have to ask. You could see us everywhere scurrying through the halls on urgent business.

Soon after we returned, we were thoroughly disappointed to find that Mr. Robinson, our able advisor for two years, would no longer be with us. However, to help Mrs. Whitmore keep us in hand were Miss Jones and Mr. Rockwood. These three were to remain our helpful guides for the rest of our high school days.

During our first meeting, campaigning was started for class officers. Later we elected Michael Wilde, president; Robert Kelley, vice-president; Marion Graham, secretary; and Rosemarie DeLutis, treasurer.

In October, we received our class rings. How many reasons can you think of to hold your hand out at a forty-five degree angle to make sure that no one fails to notice? As juniors, our reasons were unlimited.

After the arrival of our class rings, we started thinking of other events. As many of us are aware, if we do not plan ahead, the days and weeks soon sneak up on us and at the last minute we do not have time even to wonder why. In order that this should not happen, we began to arrange for the reception. Ruth Miller and Peter Richardson were chosen co-chairmen of the function. After a trip to Boston, the decorating committee decided on the motif which was to make the Town Hall into a radiant "Heavenly Sky." Wholeheartedly, we went to work, knowing full well that the reception would never put money into our pocket. This was not a point to be argued over, however, and plans went along smoothly.

Every year, two members of the junior class are selected by the faculty as representatives to Massachusetts State. Those to receive the honor in our class were Marion Graham and Kent Sabin.

While progress was being made on the reception, we began to consider whom we would choose as our class photographer. Bids were made by several companies, with Loring Studios pulling ahead by a wide margin at the final voting.

After this interruption, we turned our full attention back to the reception, for the day was drawing close and it seemed as though we could never finish on time. A few trips to "Ye Olde Swimming Hole," however, soon put us in high spirits to complete the job and to turn out in all our glory for the evening's festivities.

Although few of our class may have had any sleep Thursday night, we returned to school Friday morning to pick up our report cards—our tickets to the Senior Class. Vacation would be our last chance to prepare ourselves for the final year.

Seniors—at last. This is the hardest year to record, for how can I tell in mere words of the thoughts with which we were filled.

Our elections resulted as follows: Peter Richardson, president; Ernest May, vice-president; Marion Graham, secretary; and Rosemarie DeLutis, treasurer.

I want to travel no further in this history without giving recognition to our class athletes. The Varsity Club consisted of William Donlan, Malcolm Holding, Robert Kelley, Clyde Madan, Ernest May, Donald Purrier, and Peter Richardson. Others who were interested in athletics were Herbert Linn, Roy Nordberg, William O'Hare, and Douglas Titus. The girls were not to be outdone, and during the four years Joanne Burrell, Kay Ellen FitzRandolph, Patricia Fornaciari, Lucille Giovino, Lillian Goddard, Marion Graham, Joan Harlor, Janet McGlashing, Claudia Miller, Sandra Murphy, Priscilla Ross, Dolores Rossi, and Frances Weber participated in the "powder puff" league.

The class scientists could hardly wait for the senior year so that they could take chemistry. Although there were no violent explosions, they were almost one hundred percent faithful to their motto of "A Smell A Day."

Before Christmas most of us had enjoyed a trip to Boston to have our pictures taken.

Shortly after winter vacation, it was announced that Lillian Ballou, Ruth Partington, and Kent Sabin would head the Yearbook Staff. With Mr. Lemieux to call the steps, production was soon started.

Earlier, tryouts were held for our class play, and although Clifton Webb was nowhere to be found, new talent was discovered for the production of "Cheaper by the Dozen." With Mrs. Marilyn Palmer, our coach, we shared first night jitters on the evening of February 5. Our play was well received and we repeated our success the following evening.

Student Government Day was held on February 18. In order that the town might return to normal, we were all on our best behavior for the rest of the week.

Two other events to record are Tramp Day, April 10, and Bow Day, April 17. Hi-jinks were the order of Tramp Day as the class turned out in all the finery the attic had to offer. On Bow Day, colorful ribbons of every description adorned us, boys included.

There were many honors bestowed upon members of our class during the year. Rosemary Delfino, Rosemarie DeLutis, and Patricia Fornaciari were made Honorary Members of the New Century Club. Patricia Houghton was voted by her classmates and the faculty as D. A. R. Good Citizen. The graduation essayists were announced: Lillian Ballou, Rosemarie DeLutis, Patricia Fornaciari, and Marion Graham. At this time, Ruth Partington and Priscilla Ross were selected to write the Class Prophecy; Kay Ellen FitzRandolph and Herbert Linn to write the Class Will; and Rosemary Delfino to compile the Class History.

Shortly after school started, we began to realize that something exceptionally important was to happen in June, and that we were to be a part of it. For a while we felt extremely confused as to what that part would be. Gradually, however, as plans for an all-time alumni reunion evolved, we came to realize that since we were the seventy-fifth class to be graduated from the high school, our graduation was to assume a position of special importance and honor.

Our last days as members of M. H. S. proved to be as exciting and as satisfying as we had anticipated. On Sunday, June 14, Baccalaureate services were held at the Baptist Church and at St. Mary's Church. On Monday afternoon, parents and friends gathered at the Town Hall to enjoy with us our class exercises, as we reminisced and looked forward to the future. On June 16, we became the first class to graduate out-of-doors when we climaxed our high school career with exercises at Memorial Park. At the reception on Thursday evening, we concluded our social life. In a gaily decorated hall, we danced happily until the final strains of the good-night waltz.

This history's done.

Our goal's been won.

We trust success

Our lives will bless.

Tribute to our own Everett Robinson

Special 75th Anniversary Feature

Everett Robinson was born in Mansfield, February 21, 1887. He graduated from Mansfield High School with the class of 1906—which was Principal Fred H. Hadlock's first graduating class. In 1910, Everett received his A.B. at Dartmouth, and in 1916, he received his Master's degree at Boston University.

In 1922, Everett married Helen M. Packard of Abington, a graduate of Wellesley. They have one daughter, Edith, member of the M. H. S. class of '40 and a graduate of Radcliffe. The daughter married Roger P. Stokey of Atlanta, Georgia in 1943. They reside in Wayland and have two daughters, Elizabeth Everett and Mary Allerton Stokey.

Everett started his teaching career in 1911 at East Maine Conference Seminary in Bucksport, Maine. He then came to Mansfield in 1912 and 1913. In 1914, he made his only other "foreign" excursion when Melrose lured him away for one year.

Then in 1915, he started the long, stay-at-home career that sees him in Mansfield this year for the 38th consecutive session. In that extended period, he thrice served as acting superintendent of schools in 1918, 1934, and 1950. He was principal of the High School from 1924 to 1934, and during four of those years he also worked as reader in U. S. History on the College Entrance Examination Board at Columbia University.

Everett's field of endeavor as a teacher has always been the Social Studies, and in

Files, records, names . . .

Everett watched them grow!

Always the pleasant one to talk to...

that field one soon discovers that he is right up to date. Interest, research, and a constant lookout for today's news today have shown him to be a deep source of historical knowledge, which he has ever imparted to others with skill and authority. From 1947, through 1950 he did part-time guidance work at the High School and, in 1951, he undertook the program on a full-time basis. He really took this duty to heart, revamped the filing system and modernized the method of keeping records. He filled his office with pertinent vocational information and started channelizing student efforts towards better aims in life. He has been especially helpful in steering many of his charges into the open avenues of higher education.

It stood to reason that a man of his caliber and integrity would be called upon to perform many civic duties; and in reviewing his active life we find that he was a Trustee of the Mansfield Public Library from 1920 to 1923 and again from 1937 to 1945. In 1923-24, he was a member of Massachusetts Legislature and was on the Board of Selectmen in 1934-36. We find him on the Executive Committee for Mansfield's 150th anniversary celebration in 1925, and on the Food Rationing Board during World War II. He has achieved quite a reputation as a public speaker, often representing the Town in outstanding public celebrations and his services as an M. C. have been required on occasions too numerous to mention.

A partial listing of his club and organization memberships (past and present) show how the supposedly secluded walls of a teacher's existence can well be scaled. Here are a few: Mansfield Baptist Church; Mansfield Winthrop Club; Mansfield Lodge I.O.O.F. (Odd Fellows); Dartmouth Alumni Association; B. U. Alumni Association; National Roque Association; Masonic bodies in Mansfield, Foxboro, Attleboro, Boston—well, let's stop here for a little breath.

Everett's secret for his excellent health of body and mind lies in his ability to include some form of recreation in the course of any one day. His main hobby is stamps and his fun is sports. He just loves to watch contests in football, baseball, basketball and track and he appears to have quite a weakness for tournaments where he hopes to witness school events at their best. As a participant he claims he played poor golf, fair tennis and excellent roque.

Now, if this latter sport befuddles you as much as it did me, let's use Everett's own description of the game. Roque is the modern version of the old game of croquet (just cross out the first and last letters.) In basic principles, the game has similar rules but it is much more difficult and accurate—really combining the features of billiards. It is played on a perfectly level clay court, 30 x 60 feet, enclosed by concrete borders. The wickets are of heavy steel set in cement for firmness, and allow only a miserable $\frac{1}{8}$ of an inch clearance for the ball to pass through. The short-handled mallets are much heavier than their croquet counterparts. Although originally popular in the East, the game is now largely played in California, Florida, the Mississippi Valley and the Chicago and Kansas City areas. And we do not have to take Everett's word that he was excellent at this game for he won the National singles championship in 1913, and spent a month playing exhibition games in St. Petersburg, Florida, in 1919.

Now that we have scrutinized a few of the facts of Everett's life, this picture would not be complete without an attempt at an honest assessment of his qualities as a man and educator. First, there is no dissent to the opinion that to know him is to like him. His ever friendly and polite attitude toward all is nothing short of amazing. His manner of speech is always earnest, his choice of words on the level of the serious-minded; and yet, he owns a very acute sense of humor. Belittling none, his greatest claim to glory is a clearcut attachment to duty and the quiet, faithful, everyday performance of same.

His calm ways have proven a great asset to the school. Caught in a whirlwind of fleeting administrations, when each new king brought new laws and new methods, his power of adaptability influenced others toward bettering the program, when all could easily have become chaos and confusion. He could advise well, and often did. And even without speech, his devotion to his task was always a model to behold and copy.

And now, the bright sun of his active days appears to be setting as tales of retirement grow. But we all wish that it will be but the dawn of a new era, the beginning of a new phase of the long life we want ahead of him. That he will enjoy years and years of the richness of his mind, ever young in spirit, and ever cheerful in action and memories. We, of this group of '53, representing the approximate twenty-five hundred people he has seen in his passing parade, are most happy and proud to salute this great gentleman, this great scholar of Mansfield, our very own Everett W. Robinson.

Class Will

by

KAY ELLEN FITZRANDOLPH AND HERBERT LINN

We, the graduating class of 1953, being of highly unstable minds, worn out bodies and empty pockets, do hereby attempt to write our first and final will and testament. If certain bequests seem somewhat mixed up it is because we are the same way since having to leave these halls of ivy is a tear-jerking occasion.

To Mr. Anderson we leave a year of perfect weather so he won't have to worry about days off and their repercussions.

To Doctor Larson we leave the pleasant memory of a cooperative class.

To the Faculty we just say, we're leaving after four peaceful years.

To the Junior boys we leave the freshman girls.

To the Sophomores we bequeath the reality of a new high school.

To the Freshmen we leave the pleasant thought of three more enlightening years.

To George we leave a lifetime supply of baseball hats in case his finally fades out of sight.

Rosemary Delfino leaves a legitimate tardy excuse to Jimmy Gordon who she hears needs one or two—dozen.

Naureen Shea leaves her quiet, unassuming ways to Jeannette Fasulo.

And Eleanor Smith leaves her noisy, tomboyish manners to Sylvia White.

Clyde Madan and Doug Titus leave their perfect attendance records to check on weather conditions—at the beach.

Marion Graham wills some of her height to Elaine Marcheselli so that Elaine can better reach her goals.

"Frannie" Weber leaves her sociability even to the teachers.

Joanne Burrell wills her surprise hook shot to "Jackie" Agan.

Larry Tessier leaves his "limousine" to any person who is sucker enough to want it.

Whitney Chapman leaves his alma mater grinning from ear to ear.

Lillian Ballou wills her straight A's to anyone who wants to work for them.

James Fernandes wills his "Don Juan" attitude to Freddie Larson.

"Jackie" Johndro leaves with the knowledge that she hasn't overworked her brain on homework.

Peter MacLachlan leaves his height to "Dennie" Kaleta, hoping to even things up.

Lucille Giovino leaves for an adventure in New York.

Beverly Brown leaves ashes in Herbie's car.

Bobby Kelley wills his curly locks and a bottle of "Toni" home permanent to Phil Webb.

Rosemarie DeLutis wills her cheery smile to Doctor Larson.

Patty Fornaciari leaves her demure ways to Beverly Mitchell.

Hand in hand, Ted Wuschke and Ruthie Miller leave these hallowed walls of learning.

Mary Lou Dill wills her exquisite 1920 wardrobe to Carol Troesch.

Lillian Goddard wills her athletic ability to Carol Briggs.

Howard Fiske leaves to keep "Elsie" company.

Mary McCarthy leaves holding on to her sergeant's pin. Where to next, Mary?

Kent Sabin leaves, and takes his brains along with him but who can blame him.

Billy Donlan wills his "air-condition" truck to "Buzzy" Richardson, in case his old heap breaks down and he needs decent transportation.

"Pete" Richardson sadly leaves "Margie."

Roy Nordberg wills his "Pepsodent" smile to "Donnie" Flynn.

Jackie Vallett wills a new formula for T.N.T. to next year's mad scientist.

Pat Houghton leaves her good citizenship to Joan Barre.

Sandra Murphy leaves her fetching qualities to Joann Costanza.

"Mac" Holding wills his basketball ability to Kevin Jackson.

Ernie May leaves his personality to Eddie Albertini.

John Hansen wills his brains to Eddie Garriepy in hopes that they will serve him as well as they did John.

Ruthie Partington leaves her office ability to Clem Mondillo.

Joan Harlor leaves her gift of gab to Janet Agan.

Claudia Miller leaves, hurrying after Mac.

Janet McGlashing leaves M.H.S. with four fun-filled years behind her.

Mike Wilde wills his melodious voice to George for his early morning concerts.

Barbara Mei leaves her "red" hair to Beverly Calesa who is a natural.

William O'Hare leaves hints on influencing the selectmen to next year's town manager.

Priscilla Ross wills her good looks to Brenda Woodlock.

Donald Purrier wills to Doc a bound edition of his first and probably last who-dun-it, "The Fishy Smell."

Judy Fowler leaves M.H.S. with a lot of good home management behind her. Who knows, some day it may come in handy.

Marilyn Strang gladly gives Jane Searing some weight in case she wishes to throw it around.

In witness whereof, we the class of 1953, of Mansfield high school in the state of generosity and poverty, set our hand and seal to this, our will, the fifteenth day of June, nineteen hundred and fifty three.

Class Prophecy

by

RUTH PARTINGTON AND PRISCILLA ROSS

What will the future years foretell?
Have our classmates been dealt with well?
Are they successful or are they not?
With this in mind we have planned our plot.

Here we are in flight hovering over the blue waters of the Atlantic Ocean, our trans-world tour finally begun. While threading our way through the misty clouds, we begin to notice our fellow travelers. Can that be Jackie Johndro chatting with the stewardess? Why yes, of course it is, and that stewardess is Joanne Burrell. They catch our eye, and after a brief conversation we learn that Jackie is a famous jockey on her way to take part in the English steeplechase. However, after a few moments our powwow is interrupted by the appearance of our pilot, Willie O'Hare. He joins our group of former classmates and informs us that our safety is in the hands of the co-pilot, Red Purrier, who evidently is still flying high.

We land in London. During the interval between flights we decide to attend the world-renowned Palladium. On arriving at the theater, we see the names of the two top actresses of the legitimate stage, Kay "You-All" FitzRandolph and Eleanor "Lollipop" Smith in a famous sister comedy play, "The Teddy Bears." Between the acts we are amazed to see Ted Wuschke and his famous black box into which Ruthie Miller, his assistant, disappears. Ted always was threatening to use that box. Another surprise is in store for us when we hail the taxi. The driver is Whitney Chapman who, judging from the noise the engine makes, still loves to tinker with cars.

Back to the plane and on to Paris! During our stay in the great French fashion center we decide to go on a shopping spree. After several unsuccessful encounters with French clerks we come to the famous dress salon of Mademoiselle Judith Fowler. To our surprise she employs two of our former classmates, Lucille Giovino and Barbara Mei, as models. Boy, do they do those clothes justice! On one of our many excursions we eat at a small French cafe. There we find Jimmy Fernandes as headwaiter. He certainly makes a hit with the French women! Our visit is really topped off by the appearance of Rosemarie DeLutis doing her specialty, the cancan.

Within a few days we find ourselves in Berlin. Our old friend Roy Nordberg finally has reached a position where he can argue as much as he desires. He is a United States Ambassador to the now peaceful Germany. Pat Houghton, Roy's efficient secretary, really must put up with a lot.

As the Germans are noted for their athletic ability we go to a gymnastic exhibition. There we see Herby "Mr. America" Linn who is making a personal appearance tour throughout Europe. After several weight lifting performances Herby wrestles "Dainty" Dougie Titus, the German heavyweight title holder. And speaking of fighters, Rosemarie Delfino is also here in the Rhineland—as a captain in the W.A.F.S.

After our brief stay in Berlin we travel on to Rome, capital of the cultural world. We are met at the airport by Meg Graham, well known for her famous book on diets, "Spaghetti Does It." Meg conducts us through Rome where we see Signor Michelino Wilde, now a famous opera singer. Mike is busy writing the libretto to a new opera, "Cheaper By The Dozen."

Meg has Clyde Madan, her chauffeur, take us to the Tessier Museum of Natural History. Besides Larry's famous collection of dinosaurs, he has his more modern trophies, queer ducks from West Mansfield. While he gathers his specimens from his old camping grounds, Beverly Brown, his private secretary, is able to stop running long enough to catch up on all her correspondence.

Next we go to Russia, a country now peacefully allied with the West. On our arrival in Moscow we immediately go to the American consulate where we have an appointment with the first woman ambassador to Russia, Lillian Ballou. She informs us that two of our scientists, Pete Richardson and Johnny Hansen, have taken great steps in the development of the A Bomb, Ammonia that is. Pete MacLachlan is in Russia, too, and has perfected the country by wooing away all the snakes, thus becoming the St. Patrickovich of Russia. This country at the present time is noted for her women wrestlers; here we find "Luscious" Lil Goddard who can out battle any Russian lass.

Our next stop is Singapore. Here we are entertained by Billie "Dimples" Donlan who owns a large gum plantation which helps keep the British Empire stuck together. We are surprised to find three other old friends, Mary McCarthy, R.N., Patty Fornaciari, elementary-grade teacher, and Claudia Miller, dental technician. They are busy as usual influencing the hand, the mind, and the mouth.

Now to the land of midnight dreams, Tahiti. Sandra "Hips" Murphy is teaching the natives the American swing much to the amusement of Kent Sabin, who is using his knowledge gained at Boys' State to advise the natives in setting up the government of the new Tahitian Republic. While there, we happen to meet Bobby Kelley and Mac Holding, recently turned naturalists. On the main beach they are trying out their latest bird calls on the Tahitian "Chicks."

At last we are in the States again. We go directly to Hollywood to call on a few more old friends. Mary Lou Dill, the latest sensation in calendars, is really making the unobvious, obvious. The old Navy motto "A Man in Every Port" holds true for Wave Franny Weber who is able to love 'em and leave 'em. Ernie May and Naureen "Shipper" Shea are really sticking to the maxim "Leave them laughing" with their comedy roller-skating act. While in the movie capital we see, or should we say hear, Joanie Harlor who is still broadcasting her news.

Bag and baggage we move on to Chicago, the last stop of our pleasant journey. The city is rather crowded, as all the farmers of the United States are holding their yearly convention here. We are not surprised to find Howard Fiske attending, for he is now one of the country's largest cattle raisers. He "moos" them down.

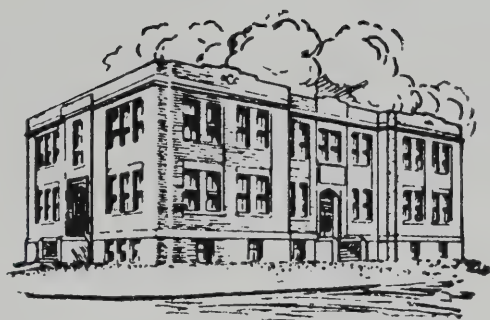

Because of a slight speed violation we chanced to meet Dolores Rossi, a policewoman following in her father's footsteps. Dolores informs us that Jacky Vallett has attained her goal. At last she has plenty of children to keep her busy. She is working along with Jan McGlashing and Marilyn Strang as a teacher in a home for crippled children.

Enriched with many cherished memories we return home to write our adventures in the log of time.

Altho this world we've traveled in our dreams
Remains to us an unknown mystery,
We know, to you, who follow us it seems
A vivid picture in full clarity.

We know this picture will to you unfold
And give to you the knowledge which we sought.
When heaven speaks—just listen while you're told
The secrets, and use of wisdom and thought.
